FACTS AND FIGURES

The Resilient Cities Congress series was launched in 2010 by ICLEI – Local Governments for Sustainability, the leading global network of 1,500+ cities, towns and regions committed to building a sustainable future. The aim was to establish the first global forum on local level climate adaptation and resilience. Today, ICLEI Resilient Cities is the leading platform for local governments, the private sector, international organizations, and academia to discuss the latest developments in urban resilience and adaptation. It also serves as an annual meeting point to track local progress on the resilience targets of SDG11. Through our collective efforts, we impact more than 25% of the global population.

Over the last ten years, Resilient Cities has congregated around 4,000 participants from over 350 cities worldwide from 84 countries. Cities from both the Global South and the Global North have been represented at the Congress. Among them: Accra, Bangkok, Buenos Aires, Cairo, Cape Town, Copenhagen, Ho Chi Minh City, Istanbul, Jakarta, Melbourne, Mexico City, Mumbai, Nairobi, Oslo, Paris, Singapore, Stockholm, Tel Aviv, Tokyo, Vancouver, and more.

WHY US

Resilient Cities is where partnerships are forged and strengthened, results are showcased, challenges are addressed, and opportunities are identified.

- Unleash the full potential of your work by showcasing it at our global forum and through our worldwide network
- Connect with other peer cities and investors to establish new partnerships, elevate your sustainability profile, and strengthen your global position
- Expand your network and develop future projects
- Learn from other local successes and help other cities become more resilient
- Demonstrate your leadership, promote innovative local solutions and contribute to the sustainability and resilience agenda worldwide
- Magnify your network by engaging with global senior stakeholders from international organizations, private companies, political leaders and decision makers
